

A photograph of a spa area. In the foreground, there is a small rectangular pool of water. Behind it, a large, shallow stone basin sits on a raised platform. To the left of the basin, several white towels are neatly folded. A modern, minimalist faucet is positioned behind the basin. The background wall is made of vertical wooden slats, and a warm, glowing light strip runs along the base of the wall. A small potted plant is on the right side of the basin. In the foreground, a lit candle sits on a stone path. The overall atmosphere is calm and luxurious.
